Recognition from RO Partner universities

RO Partner universities recognise your successful completion of the RO programme through their admissions processes.

For successfully completing the RO programme, all RO Partner universities will give your application additional consideration when you apply to them through UCAS. They also give RO offers worth up to two A level grades (or equivalent) lower than the standard offer.

However it is important to note that recognition can vary at the RO Partner universities and there may be some course exemptions. You should read each of the university statements on the following pages so you can understand what this means for you.

Research Intensive Universities

One of the aims of the RO programme is to support you to make an informed choice about your future by highlighting the benefits of research intensive universities (RIUs). All of the RO universities are RIUs. This means they have:

- Leading academics and tutors, who are experts in their field.
- Vibrant learning environments where new discoveries are being made and problems are solved.
- Cutting edge facilities thanks to the investment associated with research.
- Top careers guidance and strong links with business.
- World-renowned reputations which are highly valued by employers.

I loved being a part of the RO programme - it gave me access to so much more information and guidance for university.

Realising Opportunities Student, 2018

Making sure you get the recognition

Important information - your UCAS application

In order to receive recognition for successful completion of the programme from RO Partner universities you should apply through UCAS using the online Apply system in the normal way. The online Apply system allows you to identify yourself as an RO student. Guidance on how to identify yourself as an RO student on your UCAS application form will be emailed to you in advance of the 2021 entry cycle opening. Please look out for this communication and if you have any questions when you come to submit your application then please contact info@realisingopportunities.ac.uk

It is worth noting that you are not limited to applying to one RO Partner university or course. You can apply to, and have the potential to receive offers from, the maximum number of choices on your UCAS application (which is usually five).

RO offers will be subject to students having the correct fee status at the time of application to University.

Passing the RO Programme

If you receive an alternative offer from an RO Partner university it will be dependent on your successful completion of the RO programme. In order to pass the RO programme you must:

- Attend at least 2 events or activities at an RO university (this usually is the Local Launch and National Student Conference).

- Complete and pass the skills4uni challenge and quiz.

- Complete the Academic Skills Module.

The RO Central Team will communicate your successful completion of the RO programme to the RO Partner universities. Make sure you check the conditions of any offers you receive carefully. If you have any questions about passing the RO programme please contact info@realisingopportunities.ac.uk

What if I haven't passed RO yet?

As long as you record your participation in RO on your UCAS form, the RO Partner universities will know that you are an RO student. If, when you apply, you still have aspects of the programme to complete, any alternative offers you are made will be subject to your successful completion of the programme. The RO Central Team update the RO Partner universities on your RO progress before A level results day. Any universities you are holding offers with will have access to your grades. This means they will be able to confirm whether you have passed the programme and met the terms of your RO alternative offer.

Taking a gap year

You may be looking to go to university straight after completing your post 16-studies or you may be interested in taking time out before starting university. RO students that successfully complete the RO programme can access the associated recognition for up to two years after leaving post-16 studies. An example is if you left post-16 studies in 2021, you would also be eligible for RO recognition for 2022 and 2023 entry to university. If you have any queries about this then please contact info@realisingopportunities.ac.uk
